

For additional information, please contact:

Brett Bachmann
brett@lfaii.org
310-383-5404

Conrad Bachmann
hobohamlet@aol.com
818-599-7118

MEDIA ADVISORY

Gill Holland to receive trailblazing producer/director award during closing event of Louisville's International Festival of Film

Louisville, KY – Louisville-based producer and director Gill Holland will receive the Stanley Kramer Pioneer Award in recognition of his contributions to the movie business in Kentucky. The award will be presented Sunday, October 13 at the Conrad Bachmann Auditorium at Valley High School as part of the final event of Louisville's International of Film.

Stanley Kramer was a groundbreaking movie artist. Some of his other credits include "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," "Justice at Nuremberg," "The Defiant Ones," and many others. Kramer was nominated for nine Oscars and directed 14 different actors in Oscar-nominated performances. He died in 2001.

As part of this special event, Kramer's wife Karen Kramer and Daughter Kat (named after Katharine Hepburn) will be in attendance and Kat will perform a medley of songs from her father's films. A special screening of Kramer's "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World" will be available to audiences as the closing event of Louisville's International Festival of Film.

WHO: Louisville producer/director Gill Holland

WHAT: Receives Stanley Kramer Pioneer Award

WHEN: 2:00 p.m. Sunday, October 13

WHERE: Conrad Bachmann Auditorium, Valley High School, 10200 Dixie Highway, Louisville

Celebrating our 5th year, Louisville's International Festival of Film (LIFF) is committed to screening artistic films not usually presented through commercial venues, giving independent filmmakers a place to showcase their work. The proceeds of the Festival will be used by the Louisville Film Arts Institute (LFAI) to help fund education efforts focused on training the filmmakers of tomorrow in Metro Louisville and the Commonwealth of Kentucky. For more information, visit Louisvillefilmfestival.org, like us on Facebook at www.facebook.com/Louisville.Film.Festival or us on Twitter @LouFilmFest #LIFF2013.