MEDIA ADVISORY

Louisville's International Festival of Film's Saturday Highlights

Louisville, KY – Two highlights for Saturday, October 12, during Louisville's International Festival of Film:

2:00 p.m. - Singer/songwriter Naomi Judd, a Kentucky native, will be honored as the newest entrant to the Kentucky Legends Hall of Fame. The ceremony will take at the Down One Bourbon Bar at Third and Main Street in downtown Louisville. Following the ceremony, Judd will attend a screening of her film, "Nearly Wed," in the Breathitt Room of the Galt House Hotel at 3:00 pm.

6:00 p.m. – Catherine Dent, actress and star of "The Shield," and Emmy award winner and Academy Award nominee Shohreh Aghdashloo will be in attendance for the screening of "Silk." Aghdashloo stars in the film which Dent directed. The film will be shown in the Wilkinson Room at the Galt House

Celebrating our 5th year, Louisville's International Festival of Film (LIFF) is committed to screening artistic films not usually presented through commercial venues, giving independent filmmakers a place to showcase their work. The proceeds of the Festival will be used by the Louisville Film Arts Institute (LFAII) to help fund education efforts focused on training the filmmakers of tomorrow in Metro Louisville and the Commonwealth of Kentucky.
